ARSON SUSPECTED--A Cameron police officer examines evidence at the site of three fires in Yoe High School Monday evening. A $500 reward has been offered for information leading to apprehension of the suspect.

NIGHT TOUR. . .

It was not a typical Tuesday evening, but not untypical either.

I drove by the City Park tennis courts to see the condition of the courts, but they were too damp. I went back to the office and checked how page makeup was going, then went by Yoe Gymnasium to watch Manor vs. Cameron, the varsity girls prelim to the Manor-Cameron boys varsity game which Cameron easily won. I looked over the shoulders of the scorekeeper and announcer to see how it looks when the ref runs up to cite a foul or when players check in and out during the game, not to mention how the gadgets work the scoreboard.

Martin came in, sat down, got some money and went after a couple of sandwiches. He had just finished basketball practice and soon was ready for a ride home. The practice was a hard one, he said.

I came back to the gym to watch the boys varsity game, commenting to County Agent Bill McCutcheon about a string of freethrows the Yoemen were hitting which put them about 15 points ahead of Manor the rest of the night.

After the game, I went back to the office, looked at the clock and went to the Texan for an evening tea about 9:45 p.m. with friend Bill Peck, whose son is staff photographer, and some nightly conversation, which went into "life after life", an article in current "Reader's Digest."

After Bill and I closed the Texan, I went by Safeway to pick up a few sandwich items, asking a clerk, but not really learning why two Cameron policemen were in the doorway about 10:10. Probably to buy some items, I was told. I saw Rev. Vernon Dietrich and his son, among others.

I went back to the office and watched "Kojak" at 10:30, a little bit of a later show, then went out for a coffee at Pitt Grill. Back at the office, I called the police dispatcher to ask if anything was going on, and was told nothing was mentioned at the change of shifts at midnight. There was still a column due by 8 a.m.

Then it occurred to me to log this, an inconsequential column typical of an evening at midweek.

There is sometime an accident like a jackknifed truck one early evening a couple of weeks ago or a sawhorse someone accidentally dropped into the intersection at US 77-SH 36, which I crumpled at the stop light. No damage, but an incident.

Fortunately, quiet evenings are not damaging. Only dull.

STOP, WINTRY BLAST the sign says, but icicles formed just the same on Sunday morning when ice coated trees and shrubs in the city, the legacy of a winter storm.

Fire Officials Investigating Yoe High Blaze

Police and fire officials are investigating the setting of three fires in the Yoe High School building sometime Monday night. The alarm was sounded at 11:25 when a student working in the building smelled smoke and investigated.

John Homerstad was working in the photo lab at high school when he smelled smoke. Upon his search, he found a fire blazing on the teacher's desk in the basement speech classroom, another fire some distance from the desk on the floor, and another built against one of the outside doors.

He poured water on the desk fire and called volunteer firemen who quickly dispatched the other flames.

Fire officials stated it was "definitely arson," and a $500 reward has been offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the arsonist.

Officials could find no forced point of entry; however, the school was open for class play practice that night.

'77 License Stickers Due For Texans

AUSTIN

Texans will begin registering their motor vehicles for fiscal 1977 February 1. Registration renewal notices will be in the mail soon.

Some vehicle registration renewal notices will arrive a little later this year. Usually they are mailed immediately after Christmas to facilitate postal distribution. However, this year, inmates at the State Department of Corrections prison facilities at Huntsville are sorting by zip code all of the approximately 10 million renewal notices.

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation will save approximately $50,000 in postage discounts for performing this service, which is contracted by the prison system.

The 1977 stickers will have a solid red background with white year figures and state name. The sticker serial number will be printed in blue in the upper right-hand corner. Fiscal 1976 stickers had a blue background, white figures and red serial numbers in furtherance of the Bicentennial theme which will be continued in 1977.

Robert W. (Bob) Townsley, director of DHT's Motor Vehicle Division, said he anticipates less motorist confusion in affixingin 1977 stickers to the metal license plates.

DHT first issued multi-year metal license plates in fiscal 1975. Last year was the first for attaching annual stickers to the metal plates.

"Although most motorists followed instructions and experienced no problems, other failed to read the instructions for affixing the stickers with--sometimes--laughable results," Townsley commented.

The 1977 stickers will be applied to the depressed area in the upper right-hand corner of the REAR metal license plate, Townsley explained. The 1976 sticker should remain in its present location--the upper left-hand corner of the rear license plate.

Beginning in 1978 the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation will initiate a year-round licensing system with some registrations expiring each month thereafter. This will mark demise of the half-century-old, 60-day registration periods and one-date deadlines for acquring and affixing new stickers without penalty.

Grant Approved For Milam

Governor Dolph Briscoe has approved two criminal justice grants affecting Milam County.

With a $9,952 grant, Milam County will establish a probation department offering both juvenile and adult probation services.

Central Texas Council of Governments received $18,770 to continue operation of the teletype network serving 12 area law enforcement agencies.

HOLIDAY BUSINESS WAS 'GREAT'

Businessmen s comments on the 1976 Christmas shopping season ran the gamut from "great" to "terrible," as merchants counted up profits and compared the season with that of the year before.

Dan Long, manager of JCPenney, was elated with Christmas sales, which he called "great" and "outstanding" and said sales broke the all-time record for his store. Long said he feels there is a "good business climate in Cameron." He reported that catalog sales were good along with other store sales in spite of shoppers missing two Saturdays in December.

Lovic Baugh, manager of the local Sears catalog agency, said business was "terrible" compared with last year, with sales down 20 percent and with 15 percent returns of merchandise. Baugh said much of his business went to the new Temple Mall. However, he said sales in November by early shoppers was pretty good.

Baugh said sales were brisk for electronic games such as Pong and Jaws, and said Sears ran out of such items the first week in December.

Another catalog agency, Montgomery Ward, reported sales better than last year, and better than they've been in the past. Marion Wright, manager of Wards, said the store ran over its budget, selling many $39 and $49 games to Christmas shoppers.

Bernice's co-owner Elaine Perrin reported sales started early, with some gift packages prepared before Thanksgiving. She said the store sold to many early shoppers who were buying the more expensive items.

Steady December sales were reported by Johnny Schigut, who said people seemed to get the Christmas spirit earlier this year. He said shoppers bought less this year, but bought the more expensive gifts.

The two variety stores had conflicting reports, with Charles Strode pleased with sales at Perrys and Adolph Noska reporting a downturn in sales at Duke and Ayres.

Strode said he did a "tremenddous" business in artificial Christmas trees, with many being put in layaway early in the season before Thanksgiving. He said shoppers started putting toys in layaway in July.

He said the game "Sound Around Football," which is made in Cameron, wa s a good seller, along with decorations and lights.

Noska said his sales were down 10 percent from last year and said it was partly due to added competition from other stores in town. He said baby dolls sold well a s those last year, but shoppers seemed more tight with their dollars.

Gibson's, new discount store that opened in 1976, sold out of film, flash cubes, and certain popular toys. Ernie Garcia, Gibson's manager, said the store exceeded by six percent its projected sales figures.

Chili Manning, owner of Lewis-Chili Shoe Store and Albert Hajovsky, owner of Western Auto, both said sale s rates kep up with inflation, showing a normal increase.

Maxine's Boutique and Pauline's both did good Christmas business, according to Maxine Fail, who said many of her craft items were bought in September and October so they could be made by Christmas. She also did a lot of framing for gifts in December. She said Pauline's sold quite a few pants suits and blouses as gifts.

Reynold Laywell, owner of L&M Jewelry, said his sales showed an increase over those of the past Christmas, with some shoppers putting items in layaway as early as October. No specific trends were shown by sales and Laywell said "we sold some of everything."

Jr. Stock Show Date Changed

The Milam County Junior Livestock Show has been postponed until February 5, due to the bad weather which has delayed construction of the new Youth Exposition Building, according to Kenneth Waites, Assistant County Extension Agent.

The Livestock Show Association felt it would be better to postpone the show to have it in the new building rather than wait another year, Waites said. However, if the building is still not ready on February 5, the show will still be held on that date.

Pastor Receives Invitation To Carter Inaugural

The pastor of a Cameron church has received an invitation from President-elect Jimmy Carter to attend his inauguration in Washington this month.

Rev. L. C. Reece, pastor of the First Christian Church, said he has been corresponding with Carter for the past 8 or 10 months, and believes he may have coined the phrase, "I don't know all the answers," which was used in the Carter campaign.

Reece said he was supporting Lloyd Bentsen's campaign and when Bentsen dropped out of the race, he turned his support to Carter.

Carter answered Reece's letters and sent him an autographed photo. Reece also has a gold peanut, symbol in the Carter campaign.

When Carter won the election, Reece sent him a telegram saying: "My name is Jimmy who, I don't know all the answers, we won." A telephone call from Carter's office thanked him for the telegram and promised to get in touch with him later.

Reece said he and his wife were both invited, but she is not able to travel and he has not ruled out his own attendance at the ceremony. "My plans are problematic," Rev. Reece said.

Banks Show Gains

Milam area banks showed increases in deposits over totals of a year ago, a statewide bank call showed.

A bank call is a report to the U. S. Comptroller of Currency, who requires that every bank report its condition on the last day of each quarter.

The end-of-quarter report for Dec. 31, 1976 showed combined deposits for banks in Milam County and surrounding area totaled $89,488,252.18, which represents an increase over the $81,896,456.74 reported on Dec. 31, 1975.

Bell Promises Faster Street Work Repairs

Bell Telephone promised street repairs more quickly as it buries 40,000 feet of phone cable in Cameron, according to two representatives of the utility company at a regular city council meeting Tuesday.

Councilmen were invited by Mayor Pro-tem Gene Lumpkin to question the men, and queries ranged over the slowness of the contractor to cover holes to whether line would be laid in the Green Addition, scheduled for a paving program.

The company has no immediate plans to bury the cable in the Green Addition, and the representatives said work in other parts of the city is "95 percent complete." They added that any complaints would be tended to upon a phone call.

In other business, council heard TP&L Manager Larry Morrow request a 34 percent rate increase in the city, showing on charts just how much costs have risen and stating that without an increase the company will have to halt construction on needed plants. Council moved to suspend action on the request for further study.

Mrs. John Jistel appeared before the council and complained about boys with BB guns shooting at her house and in her neighborhood at night. Extra police patroling was promised in an effort to solve the problem. Lumpkin stated that some 65 street lights were shot out since Christmas by BB guns.

A committee of Councilwoman Jan Lucke and Councilman Monroe Fuchs was named to contact county commissioners about raising rural fire call payments to $1200 a year, up $400 from its present rate.

Code Inspector Edwin Bigbee submitted a request for raising the fees for plumbing, electrical and construction work in the city. This will be taken into consideration. Lumpkin commended Bigbee on his work.

Fire Chief Felix Matula reported that the department's auxiliary fireman drive had netted some $3,500, and these funds are being used to purchase needed equipment.

Council voted to purchase a US flag and a Texas flag for the mall poles, and moved to abandon a 15 foot alley in the Zarosky Addition.

FIRST BABY for Milam County in 1977 is Corey Ray Bush, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Ray Bush of Rockdale. The baby, 8 pounds 12 ounces, was born at 10:14 a.m. January 1 at St. Edward Hospital. Grandparents of the couple's first baby are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Simank of Rockdale and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Bush of Rt. 1, Milano.

Controlling Tomorrow...

The State (authority) in the person of a federal judge has confirmed First Amendment right to cover reauthorized executions in Texas, including limited interviews of condemned prisoners.

The Individual (condemned citizen) has given up claim to the "dignity and respect" in a death situation upon conviction of a capital crime, again punishable by death.

Federal Dist. Judge William M. Taylor Jr., of Dallas, has ordered the Department of Corrections to allow reporters from the print and electronic media to interview death row inmates and to witness any future executions.

The absurdity, the gross injustice, the folly of procedural and endless delay in overloaded courts is apparently finding order at the end of the judicial tunnel.

The horror of capital punishment will be reported and filmed for those who want to see what ultimately happens to those who criminally cancel out life.

This type of exposure apparently grieved the American people enough to change basic attitudes about U. S. participation in Vietnam, contributing to the end of that decade of war.

Strict limits are being imposed on who and how many may see executions among the press and TDC and professional attendants.

Control of city streets, of a considerable percentage of urban population is at stake. We have tried civil libertarian tolerance during these last 15 years of urbanization. And the "animals" are running whole sections of the "zoo."

The mightiest weapon in the Western World is public opinion. The surest deterrent against further popularity for "ripoffs and wastings" is the grim assurance that one by one, these breakdowns in our civilization will be corrected, or ended.

License is running out for the unrestrained individual. Thecollective of individuals is compelled to control tomorrow.

Year One...

The year 1976 is one of the watershed years for Milam County in historic political change, economic pronouncements, and continued Cameron development.

The 200th year of U. S. history then became Year 1 for greater anticipated use of lignite by Alcoa, TP&L, and Shell Oil Co., the latter within a couple of years.

It became Year 1 for modern county government in management, legal leadership, and development.

The year 1976 is when years of planning and decades, if not three generations of hope and ambition came to success in the biggest Milam political reordering in perhaps 135 years.

It was a year to build on.

Money Dominates State Agenda

Texas legislators will be swarming back to Austin January 11 for their 65th session.

Money dominates the agenda, including how to manage a $3 billion windfall of new revenue, improvements in public school finance, massive new highway aid and reform of the property tax laws.

House Speaker Bill Clayton, slated for unopposed re-election on opening day of the session, terms guarding the new revenues a top priority goal of the session.

"Like a pat of soft butter being spread across hot bread, this money is likely to be soaked up completely unless we institute measures to prevent that occurrence," warned Clayton.

There are other issues. Thousands of them.

About 4,000 bills and resolutions are expected to be offered in the House and Senate between January and May.

Among them will be the following:

A package of measures to curb runaway crime; at least four different approaches to providing funds for equal education opportunity (including the teachers' plan which also would give them a $10,000 starting pay scale); an $825 million fund realignment to prevent a crisis in highway building;

Measures to prevent skyrocketing increases in medical malpractice insurance rates; "sunset legislation" to phase-out unneeded state agencies in the interest of economy and efficiency; bills to check utilities rates (by tax reductions and switching gas rate regulation to the Public Utilities Commission); and rights-of-way condemnation power to assist coal slurry pipeline building.

Bell Asks Rehearing

Southwestern Bell has asked the Texas Public Utilities Commission to take another look at its $298.3 million rate increase proposal.

The commission December 14 recommended an increase no greater than $57.8 million.

A list of two dozen company objections accused the commission of violating its statutory mandate, ignoring its own regulations, denial of due process, confiscation of property and mandating rates insufficient to provide a fair return.

Bell implemented new rates under protest December 21 after filing tariff schedules with the commission.

Meanwhile, the commission set a January 10 prehearing on a city and rural rate increase request of Texas Power and Light Company totalling $135 million.

Lawyers Vote "No"

Texas lawyers said a firm "no" to a proposal to raise their State Bar mandatory membership fees from $65 to $100 a year (for lawyers with more than 10 years experience in practice).

They rejected the hike nearly two-to-one in a referendum turnout.

Bar officials attempted to minimize the defeat by attributing it mainly to a carry-over of a growing budgetary "hold-the-line" philosophy.

But opponents of the increase said lawyers were "not pleased with the way their money is being spent" by the Bar and had lodged an objection to "frills" for staff and officers. They cited a $54,000 annual salary paid the executive director (who is also provided a 1976 Lincoln Continental free), dues payments for staffers in posh private clubs and a decision to take out a multi-million-dollar loan on a new office building (Texas Law Center) at a local bank.

GOP Raring To Go

State Republican Chairman Ray Hutchison has predicted the GOP will field a full slate of statewide candidates next year and hinted he may run for governor himself.

Hutchison predicted the GOP will have no difficulty re-electing U. S. Sen. John Tower in 1978.

In spite of national losses, Hutchison claimed Texas is one of the few states where Republicans gained in the number of elected officials at the last general election.

Nurses Want Rewrite

Texas nurses, who claim plumbers and barbers are subject to stricter regulation, want the laws governing them rewritten to help weed out unqualified practitioners.

Spokesmen said the Board of Nursing Examiners has no authority to stop unqualified individuals from doing work of professional nurses and using titles such as "graduate nurses."

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editr:

Some people argue that one trouble with government today from precinct to Washington is that we don't select the brightest people to run it.

"Whatta you expect, with dunderheads like that in charge," they'll say.

Wait a minute, let's take a look at those dunderheads. Take a Congressman, for example. He now makes, by a vote of himself and his fellow members, $46,500 a year. That's per year, he isn't paid by the day or the hour, and anytime he wants to take off a few days to vacation or a few months to campaign for some other office, his pay goes right on. In addition, he gets 32 round trips back home during each session to look after the people's business or, if they have none, his own. He gets $5000 a year for stationery and envelopes and can mail his letters without stamps. If he gets sick he can go to the government hospital where he's charged only half what other patients pay. He can eat in the House restaurant where inflation has been whipped and the prices are about half what private restaurants have to charge to stay in business. And I almost forgot, he has a staff, some of whom make around $25,000 a year, at a cost of about $300,000 a year. The staff of course does most of the work.

If he retires from office, or if he gets beat, he has a pension coming of around $20,000 a year.

Now if you call that being a dunderhead, all I've got to say is, where do you sign up?

You may think I'm criticizing all this, but you're wrong. I want the system extended. For example, take farming. Say a farmer makes, in a good year that comes along once in a great while, $20,000, without any free trips to town and back. But finally he retires or, so to speak, gets beat, not by the voters but by a combination of the weather, insects, low prices for what he sells and high prices for what he buys plus high taxes to support his government in the manner it's accustomed to. Shouldn't he get a pension of about half of what he used to earn, say $10,000 a year?

The trouble with farmers is that not enough of them are dunderheads.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

AG Opinions

A Coordinating Board staff report on a new medical school proposal which never was presented to the board does not have to be made public under the open records act, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In another recent opinion, Hill concluded a proposed contract between Waller County Commissioner's Court and the Waller County Medical Clinic and certain physicians does not violate constitutional provisions.

BEGINNING JANUARY 7, THERE WILL BE A CHARGE FOR DIRECTORY ASSISTANCE

Here's how the statewide Directory Assistance charging plan will work:

Customers with single-line basic service who call Directory Assistance (1411) more than 10 times during a monthly billing period will be charged 20 cents for every call after their tenth. A maximum of two numbers may be requested during each call to Directory Assistance. Multi-line customers will have an additional allowance of one call for each line, up to 25 lines.

The Directory Assistance charge also will apply to calls for numbers in other towns within your home Area Code — with one important exception. You won't be charged for calling Directory Assistance in another town that has the same Area Code as yours provided you make a corresponding Long Distance call within your home Area Code. That call has to be placed from and billed to your own phone within the same monthly billing cycle.

To request numbers in other towns with the same Area Code as yours you will continue to dial 1-555-1212.

There will be no charge for requesting numbers that have a different Area Code than yours. Just dial 1, plus the Area Code, then 555-1212.

Also, there will be no charge for Directory Assistance calls from coin telephones or from hospitals.

Some customers not charged.

Visually and physically handicapped people who are unable to use the Directory will be exempt from the charge. If you think you, or someone in your family, or a friend may be entitled to this exemption, please fill out the coupon below for more information.

We're introducing this charge because it's the only way we can handle the rising costs of Directory Assistance fairly. The people who use Directory Assistance the most will pay the most.

So look in the book before you call. It will save you money starting January 7.

Q: Before I moved to Texas in 1970, I had a will executed in Illinois, where it is on file. Is this will valid in Texas?

A: Wills prepared in other states generally are valid in Texas. The difference in each state's laws, however, could affect both the cost of probate and the decision on designating beneficiaries. For example, Illinois law does not allow you to appoint an independent executor in your will, which is allowed under Texas law and can reduce probate expenses and restrictions. And, Texas community property laws might change the choice of beneficiaries selected by a married person.

Q: Do doctors have a right to give or order tests, treatments, x-rays or medication without the knowledge and against the will of the patient? If so, would they not have the right to perform surgery without a patient's permission?

A: A physician must have either the expressed or implied consent to administer treatment or perform an operation. This rule is subject to exception in an emergency if it is impossible or impractical to obtain the patient's consent or the consent of anyone authorized to assume such responsibility.

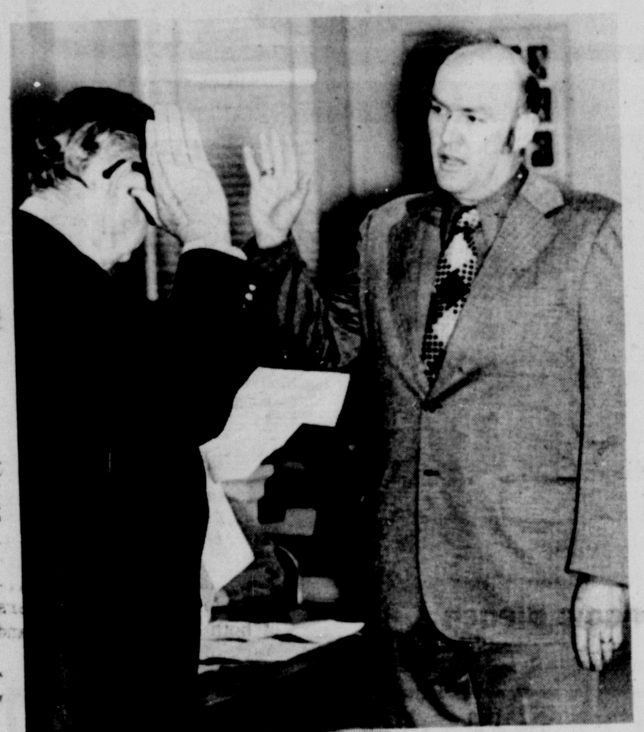
New County Officials Take Office

NEW SHERIFF Leroy Broadus takes the oath of office from County Clerk Wayne Wieser Friday morning at the courthouse. Broadus begins his first term as sheriff.

SHERIFF'S DEPUTIES John Brooks and Charles West, flanked by County Clerk Wayne Wieser, left, and new Sheriff Leroy Broadus, right. The deputies were sworn in at courthouse ceremonies Friday morning.



NEW COUNTY ATTORNEY John Henderson Jr. is sworn in by County Clerk Wayne Wieser in ceremonies at the county courthouse Friday morning. Henderson returns to a post he has held in the past.

Aliens Must Report In January

Joe F. Staley of the San Antonio Immigration and Naturalization Service has again reminded all aliens to report their addresses during January.

Cards with which to make the reports are available at Post Offices and offices of the Immigration and Naturalization Service throughout the country. The reports must be submitted in person to one of those offices.

Parents or guardians are required to submit reports for alien children under 14 years of age.

Staley urges all aliens to report before the end of January, as willful failure to do so may lead to serious penalties.

Volumes Up For Refining

Forty-nine Texas refineries processed 131,218,871 barrels of crude oil and hyrocarbon blends during October 1976, according to their reports to the Railroad Commission.

This volume compared with 129,380,659 barrels in the previous October, the Commission's Administrative Services Division reported in its monthly recapitulation of Texas refinery operations.

Texas refineries ran 111-910,056 barrels of crude oil in October, up from 108-471,443 barrels in Ocrober 1975.

Products manufactured in October 1976 totaled 130,-874,305 barrels, up from 128,883,169 barrels in the same month last year.

October 1976 manufacture of motor gasoline totaled 54,534,942 barrels, up slightly from 54,028,245 barrels in the year-earlier month.

Texas refineries manufactured 12,294,329 barrels of home heating oil in October 1976--some one million barrels more than in October 1975.

Cong. Poage Celebrates Birthday

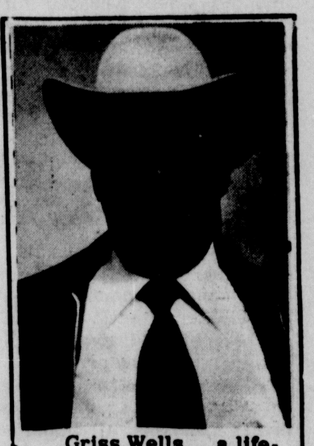
WACO

Congressman W. R. "Bob" Poage celebrated his 77th birthday in Waco last week. The Congressman was honored by an informal party given by former staff members of both his Washington and Waco offices.

During the party Poage was presented a scroll with the names of 132 current and former staff members who had raised the money to purchase the large wooden desk the Congressman used in his office in the Rayburn House Office Building in Washington.

The staff members, all from the 11th Congressional District, gave the desk to the Congressman for use in the soon to be constructed W. R.Poage Congressional Library on the campus of Baylor University in Waco. The desk will be placed in an office which will be a replica of Poage's congressional office in Washington.

Congressman Poage, who was born at his family residence on North Sixth Street in Waco 77 years ago, was first elected to Congress in 1936.



Griss Wells, a lifelong resident of Milam County Precinct 2 feels that he can do the duties of a constable as well as anyone else. Griss Wells is the first black public official of Milam County. He said that he will do his job to the best of his ability.

To the voters of Precinct 2 of Milam County:

"Your vote, influence and support was and is greatly appreciated.

"Thank you for your confidence in electing me your constable.

"I was sworn into office Friday, December 31, 1976. I will do the best job I know how."

MR. & MRS. CECIL R. CRISWELL

Criswells Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil R. Criswell celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house at their home in Buckholts on Sunday, Dec. 19. Mrs. Raymond Saage of Rosenberg and her daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Oberhoff of Richmond hosted the open house for Mrs. Saage's foster parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Criswell have been life-long residents of Buckholts where Mr. Criswell was in the cotton and insurance business until his retirement two years ago.

Mrs. Saage received the guest s with her parents at the front door.

For the occasion, Mrs. Criswell wore a white silk crepe floor length gown with covering cape of white chiffon and gold trim.

The Criswell home was decorated with a red, white, and gold theme. The table in the dining room was covered with an imported white cutwork linen table cloth. In the center of the large table was white mums and baby's breath flower arrangement. Flanking the flowers on one end of the table was a three-tiered 50th anniversary wedding cake. On the other end was a crystal punch bowl. On either side of the flowers were silver candelebras with white tapered candles. The center of the buffet was highlighted with another arrangement of white mums and baby's breath and greenery.

The guests were served champagne punch, fruit cake, punch, coffee, nuts, a variety of sandwiches, miniature cheese balls, and sauage.

Mrs. Lawrence McClaren of Cameron presided at the guest book and Mrs. Lloyd Ezzell of Roger s assisted with gifts. Mrs. Jimmie McClare of Austin served the cake,and Mrs. Kenneth Obernhoff of Richmond and Mrs. Herbert Schroeder of Colmbus presided at the punch bowls with Mrs. Derl Warren of Temple serving coffee. Misses Cristi and Melissa McClaren of Austin were also members of the house party and assisted in removing the used dishes.

Mrs. Louise Barnett of Belton, a member of the original wedding party 50 years ago, was a special member of the house party.

Out-of-town guests were registered from Rosenberg, Richmond, Temple, Cameron, Austin, Rogers, Belton, Houston, San Antonio, Rockdale, Taylor, Perryton, Livingston, Columbus, Ben Arnold, Bartlett, Magnolia, Morgan, Olney, and Thorndale, and also from Monterey Park, Calif.

SHOWN are Buddy Dulin, supt. of Cameron ISD, Mrs. Thomas C. Dusek, Thomas C. Dusek, and Leon Ewing of the Brazos Valley Credit Union.

Duseks Win Trip To Las Vegas

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Dusek of Cameron are the winners of the recent drawing held by Brazos Valley Schools Credit Union. The drawing was held as an enticement to encourage the credit union members to save on a regular basis.

Brazos Valley Schools Credit Union serves all school teachers, administrators, and employes of all the school districts in 13 counties including Texas A&M University. Most school districts provide savings and loan payments by payroll deductions. The credit union has offices in College Station, Katy, Rosenberg, and Missouri City.

PATCHES WORK

Perk up your fashions with pert and appropriate patches.

IT'S EASY to iron on fun patches onto cotton clothes.

They look great on jeans, shirts, book bags, jackets, even canvas shoes, and they iron on easily especially when they're put on 100 percent cotton cloth.

Do Products Use Too Much Energy?

A new motorboat, motorcycle, or even a self-cleaning oven may be fun to own and full of modern conveniences, but do these products use too much energy, pollute the air, or cause noice pollution?

Mrs. Linda McCormack, a family resource management specialist, points out that tradtionally, consumers have thought about themselves first and the environment last.

"But we can no longer afford to do this. We need to become more socially responsible. We must develop an awareness of the fact that a collection of seemingly innocent individual acts can affect adversely our environment," she said.

Mrs. McCormack is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System.

We need to think before purchasing especially now and consider what is good in the long run for society and the environment, she pointed out.

"When we buy a product, we must begin to consider the energy component and the expected life of the product, in addition to the price and the cost of credit needed to make the purchase. Will this product make efficient use of our dwindling energy and material resource supplies?

"The concept of planned obsolescence is no longer appropriate. Some industries are already assuming the responsibility to eliminate this idea. But we as consumers can make it a reality. If consumers discontinue buying products that have no lasting value, the industry will have to change. We do have some control over what is manufactured," she reminded.

Now is the time to start making decisions based on ecology. It will be much easier to start doing this gradually, then to have government force it upon us later.

"Some positive things may come out of all this. As conservation becomes our ethic, the quality of life we all experience will improve."

"A good spectator also creates." Swiss Proverb

Hints For Homemakers

A smart shopper will follow grocery ads and freeze for the future pork cuts that are featured as specials. Fresh pork cuts can be kept in the freezer for 3 to 6 months when wrapped for freezing and stored at 0 degrees F. or lower. To maintain the high quality and fine flavor of ground pork, remove it for use within one to three months. Thaw pork in the refrigerator in its freezer wrap or during cooking.

Today's homemakers usually are willing to pay for extra convenience and packaging of food items.

There are additional things, however, that the processor can do for her that might actually save her money while giving her that all-important convenience.

A good example is modern quick-frozen meat, with locked-in freshness and quality that's easy to keep in convenient storage.

Less time and labor is involved for both the retailer and the homemaker than when unfrozen fresh meat is purchased to be taken home and frozen and perishablility is all but forgotten.

Dare to be different when it's time to invent a tempting sandwich. Spread slices of toast with butter and place a lettuce leaf and several thin slices of boneless smoked shoulder on each.

Top each with two tablespoons cranberry sauce and two teaspoons mayonaise.

Can Student Fail Lunch

Can a student fail lunch? Yes, or rather the lunch can fail the student if the midday meal does not provide an adequate level of energy and nutrition to carry the youngster through the afternoon classes and after-school projects or play.

A sound, nutritional lunch should provide at least 1/3 of the recommended dietary allowances for children. Including a serving of a pork product in the lunch will fulfill many of the needs for high quality protein, B vitamins, and other important nutrients. Completing the lunch with servings of fruits and vegetables, grains and dairy products will insure that the lunch receives a "passing grade" and won't fail the student.

"The greatest pleasure in life is that of reading, while we are young." William Hazlitt

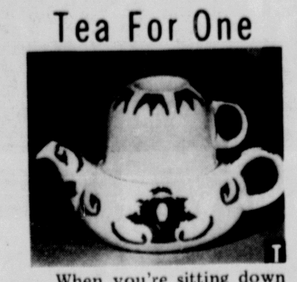
Tea For One



When you're sitting down to tea alone, why not steep yourself in elegance?

Consider making an individual serving of your favorite tea in a tempting little teapot to enrich moments spent alone. The cup turned upside down becomes an unusual lid in this compact tea serving created by famous British designer Martin Hunt for Bing and Grondahl, the Danish porcelain makers.

It's something different brewing on the tea scene.

Young Yoemen Gain Experience

Learning, as well as teaching, the fundamentals and techniques of any sport can be difficult for everyone involved. The seventh and eighted. The seventh and eighth grade levels of athletics deal exclusively with the techniques and groundwork needed for the participant to enjoy the sport in which he or she is involved.

The O. J. Thomas seventh and eighth grade basketball teams are prime examples of the foundation building for future athletics. The emphasis is not so much on the winning, but the experience gained fromparticipating in athletics, and learning from the experiences. To be able to spot the mistakes and then correct and improve is the key to any sport and that's what the seventh and eighth grade roundballers are doing.

The OJT eighth grade cagers have put together an impressive season thus far, sporting a 7-win and 2-loss record. The two losses, both going to Marlin, were in early season action.

The eighth graders opened district action Monday night against Caldwell, defeating them 39-26. Closing the first quarter in the lead 9-2, the eighth grade never gave up their lead.

The half time scoreboard shined as the Young Yoemen ed 19-7.

The Young Yoemen kept pumping the ball to the net and by the end of the game they had eveything under control 39-26, and an opening district win.

The seventh grade roundballers, on the other hand, while not tallying the season record of the eighth grade, have nothing to be ashamed of. They sport a 2-7 record for the year. But while they haven't won they have learned and that is an asset..

Seventh grade coach Roger Williams said "In the first year we try to teach the basic fundamentals of basketball. We play a lot of teams and let the boys learn from their experiences. In the past few weeks, I've seen a lot of improvement and seeing improvement now means we can look for a good basketball team in the future."

Rainbow Trout; Good Winter Game

The man who says fishing in Texas isn't worth the effort until spring never has fished for rainbow trout during the winter.

That's right, rainbow trout. Some 64,500 eight-inch rainbows were stocked by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department in three accessible bodies of water during mid-December.

P&WD inland fisheries official Bob Bounds said bulk of the catchable-sized fish --35,500--went into the Guadalupe River immediately below Canyon Dam.

Another 22,000 were placed in the Brazos River below Possom Kingdom Reservoir. the remaining 7,000 trout were stocked in Lake Rita Blanca south of Dalhart in the Panhandle.

All of the fish came from the Norfolk Federal Fish Hatchery in Mountain Home, Arkansas.

According to Bound, another shipment of rainbow trout is due in Texas sometime in January 1977.

"The eight-inch fish," said Bounds, "will be stocked immediately in public waters, probably in East Texas. The remainder will be reared to larger size at the department's San Marcos hatchery for stocking in late spring 1977."

Bounds said corn, worms, or small spinner baits work well in catching rainbow trout. Some of the fish previously stocked in the Guadalupe River are around 16 inches long and up to 1 1/2 pounds.

Daily bag on rainbow trout is five, ith possession limit of ten fish. A fishing license is required of those between the ages of 16 and 65 who fish out of the county of their residence and use a winding device on their fishing rod.

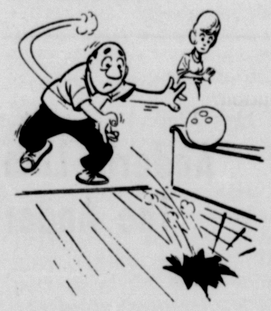
The Lonely Heart



Brown Bear Is Deadliest Fighter

In the early days of the United States, a trapper once encountered America's deadliest fighter--not an Indian, but a brown bear.

A rifle bullet only enraged the animal, which grappled with him in a bloody battle of knife against teeth and claws. The tussle was nearly a draw, but the bear lost.

Alone and near death, broken bones gleaming through his gaping wounds, the trapper amazingly survived. In a painful trek that took more than a year, eating berries and trapping small game, he crawled and hobbled back to a settlement.

More than a century later, the event was fictionalized in a novel and then a movie. Rarely has anyone met a brown bear in combat at close quarters and lived to tell about it.

Bears Once Numerous

More than a quarter of a million of the animals once roamed much of North America, but only about a thousand remain in the lower 48 United States today, according to National Geographic World. More than 7,000 are found in Alaska.

In its December issue, the magazine reports that most now live in protected areas such as Yellowstone and Glacier National Parks, where "visitors can see for themselves how big brown bears can be."

They are the largest of all meat-eating land animals. A cub weighs only about a pound and a half at birth, but when fully grown a male may weigh as much as 1,700 pounds and stand 10 feet tall on his hind legs.

Brown bears are notoriously intolerant. Ambling along an accustomed forest path, a bear will expect smaller creatures to get out of its way. They usually do--with good reason.

Faced with an intruder, a bear will discard its leisurely gait for a shuffling charge of startling speed. Then it will rear up to its towering height and batter the interloper with its massive paws.

"The powerful blows can crush ribs," says National Geographic World. "Long claws can tear fur and flesh."

YOU MAY SHAPE YOUR FUTURE BETTER if you have a better idea of what it might hold.

Hornets Sting Fish

The Yoe High Freshmen met the Caldwell Hornets in roundball action Monday night, dropping that game 57-54.

The freshmen looked good as they have all season, battling the Hornets to a 12-12 first period tie. The second period didn't open up to much scoring either as neither team's defense broke down. The Yoemen were able to take the lead from the Hornets in the closing seconds of the first half and went to the locker room with a slight edge, 26-25.

For the remaining two quarters it was a neck-and-neck battle with neither team pulling off an offnsive attack that would cinch the game for either team.

The game never really opened up for either team as the coring was sparce during the last period but the Hornets were able to pull off the win as they tacked on the final three points and secured the win, 57-54.

High point man for the Yoemen was Terry Lowe with 18 points, followed closely by Chris Riola with 17 points. Dow Dodd was next in line, adding 10 points to the Yoe effort.

The loss drops the freshmen to a 3-3 season record.

QUEEN OF THE SMALL BORE RIFLE

At the XXI Olympiad in Montreal, Canada, U.S. Army Reserve Captain Margaret Murdock wrote a new chapter in Olympic history.

She became the first woman to win a medal in shooting since the Modern Games began back in 1896.

Dubbed "Queen of the Small Bore Rifle," this modern-day Annie Oakley from Topeka, Kansas, won the silver medal in three-position rifle with a score of 1162 out of a possible 1200.

In fact, for a few short hours, it appeared that Mrs. Murdock, the world record holder in the standing position, had captured first place in this highly competitive shooting event.

Murdock was originally declared the winner by one point over her U.S. teammate Army Captain Lanny Bassham, a silver medal winner in the same event in the 1972 Olympics at Munich.

However, as is the custom in all shooting events, the targets were cross checked for errors. A mistake was found in one of Bassham's targets and his score was changed to 1162, tieing Murdock.

Under international shooting rules, tiebreakers are settled by awarding the victory to the shooter with the best score in the last round of kneeling.

Here, Bassham outshot Murdock, 98-96, to win the gold.

For Murdock, a 33 year-old citizen-soldier, the silver medal was the culmination of 22 years of shooting. The first woman ever to make a U.S. shooting team, Mrs. Murdock defeated some of the best shooters in the country at the U.S. team trials this summer in Phoenix.

One of those she beat was another Army Reservist, Captain John Writer. Writer, who won the 1972 Olympic gold medal at Munich in small bore rifle, was instrumental in helping Margaret get her silver medal. He invited her to train for the Olympics at his gun club in Wheaton, Illinois. There, Margaret was able to relax and prepare for the Games.

Equestrian is the only other Olympic sport in which women have won medals in direct competition with men.

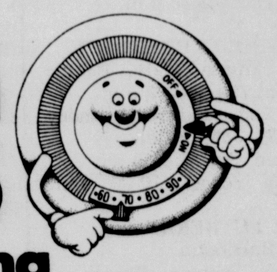
SAVING TIPS on electric heating



1. Keep heating equipment at top operating efficiency. Have it checked seasonally by qualified serviceman.
2. Set thermostat at 70° or lower. Lower to 50°- 60° if you'll be away several days.
3. Weatherstrip doors and windows; caulk cracks to prevent drafts and warm air loss.
4. Check the filter every 30 days on forced-air systems. If filter is permanent, clean it by manufacturer's directions; if it's disposable, replace if dirty.
5. Thorough home insulation keeps the warmth in, cuts energy use. Can pay for itself by lowering heating (and cooling) costs.
6. When fireplace is not in use, keep damper closed.
7. On sunny days open draperies, blinds to let in warmth of sun.
8. Open outside doors as little as possible.
9. Keep furniture, draperies away from air outlets and returns so air will flow easily. Clean often.

So, you sang in the choir when you were a kid. And sometimes you snitched cigarettes back of the church while the grownups were having their social hour inside. Sometimes you pretended to have a sore throat, so you could be "excused." You looked like an angel, but were you one?

No way!

But no one held it against you. The door to the Church stood wide open then, and it still does. Why not take a walk inside some Sunday? See what it's like today! The years in between won't seem to matter.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks and gratitude to our friends and neighbors for the many acts of kindness and sympathy shown us during the loss of our mother and grandmother.

The lovely floral offering, those who provided the music, sermon and the Marek-Burns-Laywell funeral directors were a great help in our time of sorrow.

Our very deepest gratitude goes to Dr. Richardson, The Colonial Nursing Home, St. Edward Hospital, and all the nurses for their care, kindness, and acts of love during her long illness.

Food Stamps Going To Needy Folks

The vast majority of food stamp recipients in this country are deserving of program benefits, according to a U.S. Department of Agriculture study, and in Texas the figures are even better than most.

Nationally, according to statistics just released by USDA in its semiannual quality control review, 92.4 percent of the some 40,000 hoeholds reviewed met all financial and basic program criteria.

During that same review period--January through June 1976--more than 1,200 households currently participating in the program in Texas were reviewed and 95.5 percent of these met the same requirements.

"We are encouraged by these statistics," says Nancy Snyder, national food stamp director for USDA's Food and Nutrition Service. "It means that the states are doing a better job of reviewing their caseload, finding their difficulties and correcting them."

Texas Department of Public Welfare which administers the food stamp program in cooperation with FNS, has primary responsibility for quality control reviews.

Quality control reviews--conducted every six months--are administrative tools for checking eligibility and correct issuance of stamps. This is done by reviewing a statistically valid, random sampling of a state's caseload.

This past reporting period, the review was limited to just non-public assistance households. A non-public assistance household is one in which at least one person is not receiving any other form of public assistance.

But other quality control reviews include negative action cases--those households that were either denied at time of application or later terminated--as well as public assistance households.

Copies of the report, "Participation in the Food Stamp Program as Shown by Quality Control Reviews of Non-Assistance Households, January-June 1976," can be obtained from the Food Stamp Division, Food and Nutrition Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Unsung Heroes Of America

LITTLE KNOWN FACTS ABOUT PEOPLE WHO HELP US

Firemen Protect Us—New Uniform Protects Them.

John Jankowski, Wilmington, Delaware

HEATED EXPERIENCE—One lucky fireman owed his safety to a uniform of a new flame resistant fabric.

Most people learn fastest from experience. Fire fighters are no exception. A frightening and sobering incident drastically changed the attitude of many Louisville fire fighters concerning new turnout coats which had recently been adopted by their department.

The new turnout gear, made of the Du Pont Company's "Nomex" aramid fiber, has a higher initial cost than the cotton duck coats which the Louisville Fire Department had used for years. Following considerable testing, however, the department determined that the new coats would offer more protection to the fire fighters and, in the long run, would be more economical because of their excellent durability.

In July, 1974, the department directed that all turnout coats and bunker pants purchased in the future by the fire fighters must be made of "Nomex," and meet department specifications. Fire fighters did not respond to this decision by beating a path to the gear manufacturer's door to spend a sizable portion of their annual clothing allowance on garments made of "Nomex." One who did spend the extra money was Randy Winstead, a fire fighter with three years experience in the department. Only four days after Winstead's coat of "Nomex" arrived, he was repaid in spades.

On April 8, Winstead and Chuck Winders were among the members of Engine Company 16 called to a fire in a vacant building which formerly housed a restaurant. At first, it appeared to be a small fire. Winders was inside dragging a line up and Winstead was preparing to start ventilating, when the fire suddenly accelerated. It rushed down from the ceiling and got to Winders who went to the floor trying to protect himself. Flame severely damaged one arm, and the back of his cotton duck turnout coat's outer shell was almost totally consumed. Only the neoprene liner kept him from being severely burned.

Nearby, Winstead, who was exposed to the same heat, was protected in areas of the body covered by his turnout coat of "Nomex" aramid fiber, which emerged from the fire undamaged. Unfortunately, the raging fire got to his face and the back of his legs while he was trying to escape through a window.

"All that heat was eating up my legs below the fire coat," Winstead said. "I received second degree burns there, but my new coat really did its job. It protected my body. After that fire, I'd have paid triple the price for it.

"That fire convinced me, too," Winders exclaimed. "We were in about the same spot and my coat burned, but his didn't. That experience proved to me the new coat was worth the $25 difference. I put in an order for a turnout coat of 'Nomex' right away."

Winders was not alone. Many of his fellow fire fighters joined him over the next several weeks.

"I could have talked until doomsday. I could have never done the job of convincing the men that the fire did," Lieutenant Colonel Thomas Munley said.

"Our coat features a 7½ ounce outer shell of 'Nomex' along with a liner of 'Nomex'. Over the long haul, coats of 'Nomex' should prove to be cheaper than the cotton duck we used for 30 years. In addition to their light weight, they are very durable with especially high tear resistance. Also, 'Nomex' doesn't absorb water the way cotton does."

Louisville, with more than 650 fire fighters, is currently testing flame retardant uniforms, shirts and pants. In reference to a total protective clothing system (including turnout coat and pants and uniforms) for fire fighters, Col. Munley said, "We are taking a good, hard look at it now. If it saves one man's life along the way in the future, it's certainly worthwhile.

Exxon Seeks Uranium Mine Permit

AUSTIN

Exxon Co. USA has submitted its application for a surface mining and reclamation permit for its proosed Felder Uranium Operations in Live Oak County.

Exxon Project Manager K. E. Barrett and F. L. Broyles, attorney for the Exxon Corp. division, filed the application with the Railraod Commission's Surface Mining Division late Thursday.

Located three miles from Oakville and almost five miles from Three Rivers, the uranium ore open pit mining operation is due to begin production in late 1977 with some 200,000 tons of ore per year due to be produced from the estimated 61 acres of ore area. Mining is due to cease by 1982, according to the Exxon application, with all reclamation work due to be completed by 1983.

Exxon plans to reclaim 109 acres of existing spoil piles and backfill existing pits left from mining operations during the late 1960s and early 1970s. Existing spoil pile reclamation is due to cost $920 per acre.

The application does not include any milling operation since Exxon does not intend to mill the ore itself.

State Tourist Watchers Puzzled

Tourists. . .you just can't figure 'em. So say the professional tourist watchers at the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation after toting up last fall's facts and figures.

"Taking the pulse of the Texas tourist industry every three months," said a departmental tourist-watcher. "you'd think we'd spot trends and get a handle on why tourists behave like they do. Like the 'travel thrifty' trend," he explained.

That penny-watching trend was duly noted every quarter since the fall of 1975. Tourists still came, by the droves, but spent less per day. Supporting evidence checked out. In posh hotel rooms, trash baskets were reported stuffed with burger wrappers.

"We had a reasonable theory going," said a state statistician. "Travel dollars just don't go as far as they once did, so travelers were spreading 'em thinner. Then came the fall of 1976 and they blew our theory to smithereens. These tourists wheeled into Texas spending money 23 percent faser than they had just three months earlier. . .bless 'em:'

The typical fall tourist spent $21.13 a day in Texas, and he and his traveling companions left $323.97 in the state during their stay.

"On the other hand," pointed out another tabulator, "fall tourists always seem to spend rather freely. They did in 1976, too!"

Sure enough, the tourist watchers' quarterly compari ons show that fall-season visitors to Texas are indeed more generous than those who come in other seasons.

The report just issued by the State Department of Highways andPublic Transportation will delight analysts whose joy is reducing even the vagaries of human nature to neat columns in figures. It says that last fall's average auto party from out of state consisted of 2.4 persons who stayed 6.39 days in Texas and drove 1,098 miles. Being only one mile less than the average trip of the previous fall, it gives rise to speculation that fall visitors may always go to the same

JAMES. E MONAHAN

BEPC Has New General Manager

James E. Monahan, a 28-year veteran of the electric utilities industry, became general manager of the Brazos Electric Power Cooperative, Inc. January 1 with headquarters in Waco, Ross Segrest, executive vice-president, announced today.

Segrest said the new general manager is a native of Des Moines, Iowa and earned his degree in mechanical engineering at the University of Notre Dame, graduating cum laude. He is a registered professional engineer and has spent the past 28 years in practically all phases of the electric utility industry.

As general manager of the Brazos System, Monahan will head up one of the most progressive electric generating and transmission systems in Texas which provides electricity for 19 member rural electric distributing cooperatives serving 57 counties.

Winter's Time To Plant Trees

Although most people shun the outdoors when cold weather arrives, that's the best time to add winter hardy trees and shurbs to the home landscape, says a Texas Agricultural Extension Service landscape horticulturist.

"Texas weather and trees and shrubs to set out good root systems in the cold.

Texas weather allows trees and shurbs to set out good root systems in the colder months," points out Dr. William Welch. "This allows the plants set out in the fall and winter to better withstand summer drought than those set out in the spring."

The main concern when setting out trees and shrubs in the winter is to keep them watered to avoid damage during freezing weather. This is especially true for evergreens which have a tendency to dry out or contract leaf burn, warns Welch.

The horticulturist also suggests that newly planted trees and shrubs be staked firmly to prevent damage from high winds.

"New plant should not be fertilized until after the first growing season. A good mulch of hay, dried grass clippings or leaves will help protect the root systems from extreme temperature changes and will help retain moisture," explains the horticulturist.

Nurseries are beginning to get in good supplies of trees and shrubs, so Welch advises homeowners to start considering additions to the landscape in the weeks ahead.

4-H NOTES

By Kenneth Waites
Asst. Co. Ext. Ag.

A District Adult Leaders Association meeting has been scheduled for Feb. 25 and 26, 1977 in Brownwood at the Texas 4-H Center.

The meeting will begin until 3 p.m. Saturday.

The cost of the training is $11.50 which includes meals, refreshments, and lodging. There will also be funds available to help pay for gas to Brownwood.

This training is open to all leaders and if you are interested in attending please contact the County Extension Office.
